

Soomin Shin

Associate
sshin@selendygay.com
212 390 9820

Soomin Shin earned her J.D. from New York University School of Law, where her note Green Monetary Policy: Lessons from the European Central Bank is forthcoming in New York University Law Review. While in law school, she interned for the Honorable Gary Katzmann of the U.S. Court of International Trade and participated in the Legal Aid Society Housing Law Externship, where she defended low-income tenants facing eviction.

Soomin worked in investment banking at Société Générale before law school.

Education

New York University School of Law

(J.D.)

Online Editor, New York University Law Review

University of Pennsylvania

(B.A.)

summa cum laude

Admission

- State Bar of New York